Review

This article was submitted to me. I would like to give particular emphasis on attention to the assessment of scientific and scientific-practical communication content. The subject of using the results of scientific research depends on the accuracy of the content itself, and this is very important if the purpose of practical application is being solved. Therefore, even in the case of changing the object of study, as in this article, its results can be useful to other authors.

The review

This is important, because the title of the review already speaks about its content. Based on the data provided, the reviewer does not
